About the Hole Dedication Flags...

The hole dedication is just one way for us to salute individuals directly affected by cancer, while helping to create funding for additional programs. You can show your support for those close to you that are battling cancer, honor those that have won their battle, and remember those who have lost their fight. The flag is an actual golf flag which will display custom embroidered text, yours to keep after the event.

Hope...Progress...Answers...

These are three simple words that mean so much more when applied to the work of your American Cancer Society. HOPE in the form of support programs and community services for those facing cancer. PROGRESS in searching for better treatments and ultimately a cure. ANSWERS which provide comprehensive, readily available information as the key to overcoming this deadly disease.

Since 1946, when the American Cancer Society launched our grants program, we have directed more than $2 billion dollars into research efforts, including grants to 38 Nobel Prize winners. Because of this investment, our progress is evident: in 1946 only one in four cancer patients lived at least five years beyond their initial diagnosis; now, almost 60% live longer than five years. As a result, more grandfathers are surviving prostate cancer, more mothers are beating breast cancer, more children are being cured of leukemia and fewer people overall are being diagnosed with cancer.
